The Value of Forensic Biology Evidence

CPD Training
Learning Objectives

During this course delegates can expect to:

- Gain an understanding of Locard’s Principle of contact traces
- Gain an appreciation of the different biology evidence types and their applications in the investigative process i.e.

  DNA

  Blood Pattern Analysis

  Crime Scene Examination/Review

  Sexual Offences

  Fibres

- Understand how the evidential value of different biology evidence types may be presented in court, in both a prosecution and a defence scenario

- View case studies relating to the various biology evidence types encountered in a sexual offences investigation and a road traffic accident investigation